The Baldwin County, Ga., Superior Court clerk said the settlement was filed Saturday and the motion for a new trial dismissed.

Mrs. Powers's lawyer, Robert Green, declined to reveal terms of the settlement.

Powers, 33, won a divorce here Jan. 16 following a trial in which he charged his wife was "habitually drunk." A jury of 12 married men awarded Mrs. Powers, 27, a lump sum of $5000, plus $500 for attorney fees, but there was no provision for alimony. Powers spent 20 months in a Soviet prison after his U-2 reconnaissance plane went down on Russian soil.
